

Columbine

Columbine is the brainchild of Detroit natives Daniel Platt (Daniel Columbine) and Kevin Franks (Sevin). Formed in 2004, Columbine delivers a new breed of innovative industrial music. Imagine the twisted love child of Skinny Puppy, <<_____&_____>>.

Longtime friends and fans of hard edged electronic and industrial, the pair decided <<they needed money? sex? what then?>> and Columbine was born <<_____in a basement? City club? barn?_____>>. The formula was simple:take all the elements they would have wanted to see and hear in a band, and create it themselves. This formula has proven successful, as Columbine has amassed an impressive fanbase in a short period of time, and has opened for shock rockers The Genitorturers. <<"add interesting quote here" such as "we're doing it for the chicks and free sex and drugs, etc etc">>

Currently Columbine is completing their highly anticipated first full length cd: <<_____Religious Equipment_____>> with producer Pat Elmore (of Kouture and <<what was his other band?>>). <<"We are preparing for world domination" "or some other witty quote">> They are currently shopping labels and are available for booking for 2006.

<http://www.columbinemusic.com>

Columbine is:

Daniel Columbine-synths, keys, vocals, programming
Sevin-synths, keys, vocals, programming
Pat Elmore-producer

Live Support:

Pat Elmore-producer
Brandon Greene-drums

Management:

Belai Morgana
D.I.E. Detroit Industrial Entertainment
skellicat@mac.com