This class is for choreographers at all levels who are interested in exploring a variety of methods for creating dances. It is open to anyone interested in choreography and helpful to anyone who feels their creative process has hit a plateau. We will focus on the craft and structure of making dances as well as many methods for approaching how to generate movement. Participants will get a chance to create collaboratively and learn how to develop movement structures and invent dance that explores the basic elements of space, time and force with an emphasis on learning how to craft a complete work from a finite amount of material.

Kelley Donovan has taught dance at CasaNia, Art and Soul, MIT, Springstep and currently teaches modern dance at University of Massachusetts, Boston and Boston Center for Adult Education. Her choreography was cited as one of the Top Ten performances of 2007 by the Boston Globe. She received her training in choreography from Mark Morris, Deborah Jowitt and Bessie Schönberg and her work has been called “vibrant, imaginative...with a rare feeling for stage space” by the New York Times. Her company Kelley Donovan & Dancers has performed in local venues around the Boston area and has been produced by World Music/Crasharts, MIT, ArtsFirst, Mobius, Harvard, The Artist Foundation, The Choreographers Group, Salem State College and The Federal Reserve Bank in Boston and Cunningham Studio, Joyce SoHo, Movement Research and the 92nd St. Y in New York City.
